4. Course general Description:

The course aims to acquaint students with the fundamental concepts, theories, terms, genres, characteristics and functions of literature. There are five other courses of literature and criticism in our study plan, and this course should pave the way to them in both scope and method. Topics included are: What is Literature, History of Literature, Literary Forms, Types and Genres ((poetry, novel, short story, drama, etc.), literary devices and techniques, literary movements, etc. The development of English literature from Old English (Anglo-Saxon Age) (e.g. the oldest known poem in English "Beowulf") to the twentieth and twenty first century literature, will be briefly surveyed (this will include- but may not be limited to- Neoclassic, Renaissance, Romantic, Victorian and the 20th century movements). Instructors may select a few representative texts of a few literary periods for a bit closer reading. Some outstanding English poets, dramatists, essayists and novelists may be highlighted.

Students will be trained on how to read a literary text effectively taking into account the unique features and functions of literary language (see Jakobson about the "poetic function" of language and Eagleton's "How to Read a Poem"). A variety of strategies and ways of reading a literary text may be considered depending on the instructor's/students preferences.
