With the development of information technology and the revolution took place in multi-communication technology, affecting economic, social, political, professional and educational aspects in the field of these areas. It has also added a new luster to the expansion of ranges of life resulting an innovative product of e-learning by combining education and information technology. Believing in this principle, The Custodian of the Two Holy Mosques, King Abdullah bin Abdul-Aziz Al Saud and the Crown Prince Naif bin Abdul-Aziz Al Saud, support all the requirements of the development in the field of education. The Custodian of The Two Holly Mosques, The Prime Minister and Chairman of the Board of Higher Education agreed on the number of decisions taken by the Council of Higher Education in its meeting (sixty-third) to establish a Deanship to support the field of e-learning, under the name of e-learning and distance learning deanship. Keeping the above goals in view, the establishment of Saudi e-learning university was approved to ensure the development in that field of knowledge. In continuation to that, His Highness, Dr. Khalid ibn Saad Al-Migrin, the rector of the university, took the responsibility to facilitate and support e-learning projects and to overcome all obstacles in its way. The Deanship aims is to achieve interactive e-learning that meets the needs of the community and to spread long life culture of education through a unique strategic plan.