E-learning Units

E-learning Units are found as services offered by the deanship of e-learning and distance learning to become involved in every college of the university to foster and practice the culture of e-learning, and facilitate the provision of those educational devices, maintenance and training which in turn helps in raising the level of knowledge of the students such as educational platforms and white boards smart, and to be these units is a mini-Deanship of e-learning and the headquarters for the dissemination of best practices in the use of educational technology for employees of the College and also in helping them to overcome difficulties they may face in the operation and management of those technologies. The unit works side-by-side with faculty members to help them manage their accounts online and digital production of their courses.

It is the main sponsor for the activities of the deanship inside all the colleges to be considered as a mini deanship in order to contribute in disseminating of best practices:

$$ disseminating and promoting practices and the areas of e-learning and its applications in education.
$$ training of faculty members and students on educational available technology

$$ creating an interactive electronic learning environment and motivating students to keep in touch with up to date knowledge

$$ providing maintenance for e-learning devices around the clock.

$$ speeding up communication among the Deanship, faculty members and students.
